To our customers:

During this national state of emergency, vital life-sustaining services such as first responders, warehousing and distribution are critical to the health and safety of our population. Automated doors and gates provide essential safety, security, and operational needs to fire stations, food distribution centers, medical supply warehouses, etc. Many automated doors and gates require safety devices to operate as intended. As the North America's largest manufacturer of key electronic safety components for the door and access systems industry, Miller Edge is dedicated to our responsibility in keeping these businesses and services operational to ensure that necessary movement of vehicles, and goods through these openings are not compromised.

We are currently manufacturing and shipping from our facilities in Pennsylvania and Arizona. Our internal emergency communication plan has been implemented to keep our staff informed about ongoing developments and to share health officials' recommendations about ways to prevent and reduce the risk of infection.

Our entire staff is committed to keeping each other safe and healthy so that we may continue to provide products vital to our nation's infrastructure and critical response teams while fighting this threat. We ask you to join us in helping stop the spread by conscientiously practicing CDC guidelines and other public safety orders.

Together, we can and will make a difference.
